Our heavenly Father, we thank Thee for this bright morning, for the sunshine, and we pray Thee that we may all be in harmony with this day. SENATE

MONDAY, March 23rd, 1925.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock P. M.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant Governor David J. Lavis) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. Edward S. Ninde, offered the following prayer:

Almighty God: As we gather here this evening we invoke Thy divine blessing upon us. Nor do we pray for ourselves alone, but for the whole world. All men are our brothers and need Thee even as we need Thee. There is so much trouble and unrest among the nations; in so many places falsehood and injustice are enthroned. In spite of comparative peace, we are often startled by rumors of impending war. Humanity is in distress and our only hope is in Thee. May the nations learn to keep step with the Lord of Hosts; to bring their will into harmony with His will. Do Thou rule and overrule; overthrow every evil thing and bring peace and prosperity to all the world.

For Christ's sake. Amen.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

APPROVAL OF HOUSE BILL NO. 393.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,

Governor's Office, Harrisburg, March 19, 1925.

To the Honorable, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Ladies and Gentlemen: I have the honor to inform you that I have this day approved and signed House Bill No. 393, entitled, "An Act to provide for the positions of Principal Deputy Prothonotary and Second Deputy Prothonotary in counties of the First class prescribing their powers and duties and fixing their salaries."

I approve this Bill reluctantly and only because the balance of public interest is, in my judgment, in favor of signing it. It contains a very necessary provision authorizing deputy prothonotaries in first class counties to exercise functions of the prothonotary. This provision is greatly needed. The offices of principal and second deputy prothonotary now exist but there is doubt as to whether the acts of the deputies would be construed as legal if questioned in the courts.

At the same time this Bill includes an increase of salaries to be paid out of county funds which, if it came to me alone, I would veto. In my opinion such salaries should be fixed by local authority and not by the General Assembly. I give the Bill my approval notwithstanding this provision because its other features are necessary for the proper administration of the public business.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk return the same to the Senate with information that the House has passed it without amendment.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 579, (Senate Bill No. 110), entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the twenty-ninth day of June one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws nine hundred and sixty-seven) entitled "An act authorizing and empowering the district attorneys of each county to organize themselves into a State association for the purpose of holding meetings and providing for the payment of the expenses thereof and of the district attorneys attending by the several counties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to call the attention of the members of the House to this Senate Bill No. 110, page 4 of the calendar, and ask if someone can explain the reason for it. The bill that was passed some years ago authorized the district attorneys to form an association and to attend a convention once each year at the expense of the county, the convention to last not longer than two days. Now, this bill proposes to make two conventions each year, each one to last not more than two days, at the expense of the county. It is one of the little things that will add to the expenses of the county, unless there is some good reason for it, and I would like to ask if there is anyone here can give me that reason.

The SPEAKER. Is there anyone present who can give the gentleman that information? The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Chester, Mr. Alexander.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I give way to the gentleman from Bucks.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, this bill is sponsored by the senator from our county Senator Buckman, and in deference to him, I move it be placed on the postponed calendar. I am sorry I cannot explain its provisions.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. Speaker, I may say to the gentleman from Bucks and to the members of the House that I went over and had a conversation awhile ago with the senator from Bucks, the sponsor of this bill, and he said he was requested by his district attorney to present this bill. He says that the district attorneys are sometimes called to Harrisburg two or three times a year, and they get paid only for once. I told him that there was some opposition in the House, and that was the reason I came over to see him. He requested that we do not pickle the bill, to use his words, but if we were going to lick it, that we lick it on the floor; so I told him it would have to take its chances.

Mr. HAINES. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw my motion.

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, we could not hear back here. Are we going to vote now on Senate Bill No. 110?

The SPEAKER. The bill is before the House on third reading,

Mr. NORTH. Mr. Speaker, ladies and gentlemen of the House, it pains to me to rise and object to a bill that has passed the Senate, no doubt offered in good faith, but it grieves me much more to vote for a proposition for which there is practically no justification in so doing. When this bill passed the Senate several weeks ago, I did not think very well of it, and I made it my business when entering our county seat a few days ago to make special inquiry as to what the lawyers thought of it, and I have yet to find the first ex-district attorney or the present district attorney in our county or any other county who looks with favor upon this proposition; but notwithstanding that, my friends, I would be willing to go along if it were my money only, but I say to you, as a representative of the people back home, and as a member of this legislative body, delegated here to make laws for the people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, I feel that I cannot conscientiously go along and vote for a proposition, vote for a bill taking money out of their pockets where ninety-five to ninety-nine percent of the people of Pennsylvania are not in favor of it.

Now, Mr. Speaker, I want to say to these, my fellow associates, if we continue to vote the people's money where the people do not want it, pretty soon we will cease to function as a representative government, because we are here tonight as representatives in a representative body to do that which we believe our people want, and I say to you tonight, sirs, that I do not believe the people of Pennsylvania want this bill passed, and for that reason I am compelled to vote against it.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, it grieves me very much to think that my friend is opposed to this bill, and it grieves me very much that I should oppose him in advocating its passage. The bill provides that the district attorneys of this State may meet twice a year instead of once a year as is now provided by law. My friend has always cried that he wants law enforcement. My friend has always argued that the district attorneys should have enlightenment and should prosecute criminal cases effectively. This bill provides for the district attorneys to get together, and their getting together means knowledge, and having knowledge means more law enforcement, and I cannot understand why my friend should object to law enforcement in this way. He speaks about the money. How much money is two days attendance at a convention going to cost? How much will the State miss? And isn't it better to pay to educate and help the district attorneys than to keep them in ignorance? Isn't it better for them to get together and learn, and to learn the various decisions throughout the State, and compare notes to better know how to prosecute Commonwealth cases? I hope everybody will agree with me in this respect, and aid the district attorneys and help the people.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, that the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 859, entitled:

An Act making it unlawful to enter for certain purposes upon land posted as private property and providing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman, the sponsor of this bill, kindly explain it?

Mr. MOORE. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, this bill simply requires consent before entering upon land for the purpose of hunting. Now it seems to me that that is all there is to it. It has absolutely nothing to do with unposted land. I wish to make here an explanation which I gave privately to a number of members who have inquired about it. This bill on second reading slipped me. I intended to amend it by requiring that these no trespass notices should be placed also alongside the roadside. Personally I do not have any antipathy to a man who wants to hunt. At the same time, I think a farmer has a perfect right to protect his property, and if it is properly posted all that is necessary is to secure consent from the owner. That is only an act of courtesy which any hunter owes to the owner of the land. We would not want people running over our lawns and flower gardens in town and I am sure that the people in the country do not want people running indiscriminately over their places. If a man's land is not posted he does not come under the requirements of this bill. If he wishes to avoid the provisions of the bill he can simply refrain from posting his land. If he posts his land all that is required to secure the hunting privilege is to get permission from the owner, and that is only a fair and square deal to the farmer.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman who introduced this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Moore, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MOORE. Yes sir, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Your bill provides for a penalty of from ten dollars to fifty dollars.

Mr. MOORE. Yes sir.

Mr. STADTLANDER. At the option of the committing magistrate.

Mr. MOORE. Correct.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Don't you think that is excessive?

Mr. MOORE. No sir.

Mr. STADTLANDER. You don't?

Mr. MOORE. Not when you consider sometimes the damage that it done. If a man has no sign he is subject to that penalty, but if he does not get consent he ought to pay the penalty if he does damage.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Is there not a law on our statute books at the present time that if a man violates the law with reference to hunting or fishing upon a private persons' property, he is subject to the action of trespass?

Mr. MOORE. Yes sir.

Mr. STADTLANDER. Don't you think that that is sufficient?

Mr. MOORE. No sir.

Mr. TURNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill further.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Moore, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MOORE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TURNER. If this property were a mile long and it only had one entrance it would only require one notice?

Mr. MOORE. I have tried to take care of that by promising my word of honor to the gentleman to take care of that amendment when the bill goes to the Senate. I said it slipped me on second reading, or I would of presented that amendment before.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I ask that Senate Bill No. 640, (House Bill No. 799), on third reading, entitled:

An Act relating to Boarding Houses for Infants providing for the licensing thereof and the adoption of rules and regulations for the maintenance operation and conduct thereof by the Department of Welfare and fixing penalties

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Mansfield.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Mansfield, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Mansfield, why he wants this bill to go over. It has been over several times.

Mr. MANSFIELD. Mr. President, this affects the Day Nursery, and I would like to have permission to take it up before the Board of Trustees before the bill is passed.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 643, (House Bill No. 126), entitled:

An Act to amend an act approved the thirty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws four hundred and eighty-six) entitled "An act to amend section one of an act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws eighty-six) entitled 'An Act regulating the compensation of court criers and tipstaves in counties containing more than ninety thousand and less than one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants providing for the payment of the same by the particular county limiting the number of tipstaves to be appointed and repealing an act of Assembly entitled 'An act to regulate the fees of court criers and tipstaves of the courts in judicial districts containing more than ninety thousand and less than one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants' approved the twenty-ninth day of April Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and nine' as amended"

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. President, this bill proposes to raise the salaries of tipstaves and court criers, and will affect one of the counties in my district. Our people are opposed to increasing the expenses of the counties, and I know, personally, that there is no lack of applicants for any of these positions at the present salaries. Therefore I will have to vote against the bill.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Northumberland, Mr. Steele.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Northumberland, Mr. Steele, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STEELE. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I thought perhaps the Senator from Northumberland, Mr. Steele, could explain to me why tipstaves always get such high salaries. It is a thing I could never understand.

Mr. STEELE. Mr. President, I suppose that the gentlemen who serve in this capacity feel that it is a great burden to carry with them the particular staff which is an emblem of their authority. I know of no other reason why their salaries should be so high.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. SCHANTZ. Mr. President, this being the bill of a member of the House of Representatives from Lehigh County, I know it must be a very worthy bill; and therefore I move that the question, together with further consideration of the bill, be postponed for the present, in order to give us a chance to go over it with the gentleman.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration if House Bill No. 637, entitled:

An Act to amend section seventy-five of an act approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty (Pamphlet Laws three hundred and eighty-two) entitled "An act to Consolidate Revise and Amend the penal Laws of this Commonwealth" by providing that the penalty for murder of the first degree shall be either death or life imprisonment at the discretion of the jury or of the court as the case may be

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. STADTLANDER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this is a bill which allows a jury in a case of murder in the first degree, to say whether or not it shall be life imprisonment. I have always opposed any legislation which will reduce capital punishment and we must have a deterrent. How many cases do you really have of murder in the first degree? And the person should be electrocuted because of a crime that was so heinous that it almost shattered the public by reason of its overwhelming, we might say, vehemence. I say that this bill should not pass, and we should retain upon the statute books of Pennsylvania the capital punishment idea. A man who is sentenced for life in a short time comes along and then he asks for a pardon, and you know that our pardon board here in the past has been more or less liberal in granting pardons. Therefore, I ask that the members vote this bill down for the reason that we must have a deterrent in order to prevent people from committing murders.

Mr. STAUDENMEIER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, let me direct your attention to the fact that of recent date many juries have come in with a verdict of first degree murder and recommended the prisoner to the mercy of the court. No doubt the sponsor of the bill has cases of that kind in mind. Under the code of 1860, on a verdict of first degree murder, the presiding judge has absolutely no discretion as to the penalty. Those of us who are attorneys know that the judge and the attorneys for the defense, and the attorney for the prosecution, cannot bring before the juries the penalties involved, hence many jurors, ignorant of the Code of 1860, oftentimes find a verdict of first degree in a homicide case and recommend the prisoner to the mercy of the court. That is putting the court in this position: He has absolutely no discretion; he must impose the death penalty. If this bill were enacted into a law, the jury could state by their verdict whether the death penalty shall be the punishment, or whether life imprisonment should be the punishment. I think it is a salutary bill; it is a bill that should be passed by all means. This idea of electrocution being a deterrent has been exploded in many, many instances. Life imprisonment is feared by the average criminal far more than any death penalty. When a man has become so hardened that he will in cold blood wilfully, deliberately and maliciously kill another, it shows his absolute disregard for life; and so far as the deterrent effect is concerned, send that man back of the bars for life and I venture to say in Pennsylvania, you will have less homicide cases.

Mr. ALEXANDER. They speak about the death penalty being a deterrent for murder. It is all right to talk about, but when you compare states where they have the death penalty to the states where they don't have it, we find they don't have any more murders, not as many murders, in Michigan as we have in Pennsylvania and in New York and other states where they have the capital punishment. Let that go. Personally I have always had my doubts, I have always had my question as to the rights of anyone to take the life of another, it makes no difference to me whether in due course of law or how it happens. That commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," means you and me and every man, and I do not care who it is. Revenge with me is another expression that I find here. That is not with us. It is with the power above to revenge.

Take it on the other hand: come down to the practical application of this case. Only last week,—no, two weeks ago,—I happened to be before the board of pardons, not pleading a case for anyone, but listening to another case being heard, in which a capital punishment case was being argued. The Assistant District Attorney from Philadelphia, Mr. Fox, represented the Commonwealth, and I just forget at the present time who represented the applicant for pardon; but as was said there in that case, all the ingredients of murder in the first degree were present, and yet there were extenuating circumstances, whereby if a jury had the right, they would have said, perhaps, that this man should be sentenced for life. It was agreed there by the Assistant District Attorney, as well as the pardon board, that in cases of that kind, just as the gentleman from Schuylkill has said, the judge is powerless and if the jury follows their oath under the law and the charge of the court, they are powerless, because they are bound to take the hard and fast rules of law and evidence and find the verdict accordingly. There are many, many times that there are extenuating circumstances. For instance, I will give you one: A man in Delaware county, some years ago, went home—and this was not the first time this happened, it happened a number of times—another man had been paying attention to his wife; he went home on this occasion and found that man in his home again. The man and his wife went out the back door and went down to the man's home, a square away. The husband went upstairs and got his revolver and went a square after this man and there, in cold blood, he shot him; with all the ingredients of murder in the first degree, premeditation, getting a deadly weapon, pointing a deadly weapon at a vital part, everything here present of the ingredients of murder in the first degree. As it happened, I was able to get that man off with involuntary manslaughter, which was a victory under the circumstances, of course; but that jury had to violate their oath in order to do it, they had to absolutely violate their oath to do it. Now, with a law of this kind in the statute books, no jury will be obliged to violate its oath, and they can find a verdict according to the evidence, without violating their consciences or their oaths, and it seems to me from all the standpoints, humane as well as any other, this is a good bill.

Mr. WITKIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in rising at this time, I feel it proper that I ought to read a letter which was sent to me by the District Attorney's Office at Philadelphia in response to an inquiry that I had made from them, and with your permission I will read the letter at this time:

"My dear Mr. Witkin: I have taken up with Mr. Rotan Mr. Guerin's House Bill No. 637, providing for the fixing of the penalty in first degree murder cases by the jury. The bill meets with Mr. Rotan's approval, and you can say that the Philadelphia District Attorney is anxious that the Legislature should pass it. Within the next few days, I hope to prepare a little memorandum in support of this bill."

I may say that the letter reflects the attitude of the District Attorney of Philadelphia. The question involved in this bill, in my opinion, is not one of whether or not you believe in capital punishment. The bill does not do away with capital punishment, but it merely gives to the jury trying the case the right to say whether or not that particular murder in the first degree is the kind of murder that should be punished by death or whether there are some mitigating circumstances or some other matters in the case that warrant some leniency and that is life imprisonment. And I may say, members of the House, that I believe this is a very important bill. I believe it is a step in the right direction, and I want to say that in my opinion and experience, a jury which has the stamina to find a verdict in the first degree will, if the circumstances warrant it, say that the penalty shall be death, and if the circumstances do not warrant it, they will say that it shall be life imprisonment. It therefore appears to me to be a good reason why this bill should pass. A jury today trying a first degree murder case oft times will think that the case does not warrant electrocution and what is the result? The result is that they will say that it is murder in the second degree; and I want to say to you very frankly that there are hundreds of cases where juries, in order to avoid the death penalty, because in their minds there are extenuating circumstances, find a man guilty of murder in the second degree and the result is that you have men sentenced to ten years who ought to be serving for life. I believe I voice the sentiment of the Philadelphia members of the bar who practice criminal law, as well as the District Attorney, in saying that we believe that better justice will be done for the public if men will not escape with ten years where they deserve a life imprisonment, and it will be a greater fear to the criminals to know that instead of taking a chance on the jury in fixing first or second degree, with the probability that they get second degree or ten years, they will know that the jury can say capital punishment or life imprisonment. And so I ask you members of this House, in all fairness to the citizens of this great Commonwealth, to pass this bill so that the criminals will know that if his crime is an audacious one he will get that which the jury will give in the first degree case, either capital punishment or he will spend the rest of the years in prison and not be permitted to be out in ten years and able to prey upon the public again.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have been practicing law in the criminal courts of Allegheny county for more than thirty years, and the majority of those cases have been on the defense side. I have come into contact with some of the most vicious criminals that our bar has had. One thing that the murderer fears today is known as the "hot seat." Prior to the electric chair, he feared the gallows; and I honestly and truly believe that if we take that punishment away from the death criminal, you are going to encourage the murderer. There is no question about it.

Now, one speaker said here today that the juries do not understand, a very great many of them do not understand what they are sworn to do. When they are trying a murder case it is the duty of the district attorney to ask that juror before he is sworn whether he has any conscientious scruples against capital punishment. If he does not understand what capital punishment means, that is explained to him. So, therefore, every juror who is sworn in a murder case knows what capital punishment means, and he must answer that question in the affirmative before he is sworn as a juror; in other words, he must say that he has or has not conscientious scruples against capital punishment. If he says he has not conscientious scruples, then he is sworn if the defense do not object. If he says he has conscientious scruples against capital punishment, then the district attorney has the right to challenge for cause, and the judge will say to him: "Is your opinion so fixed in your mind that you cannot render a verdict of murder in the first degree if the evidence so says?" If he says that opinion is set, then he is excused for cause; if he says, "No, if the evidence bears it out, I can do it," then he is accepted.

Now, members of the House, if you want to know or understand how a man is affected by first degree murder, how he gets commutation to life imprisonment,—our courts have no authority on that, but that defendant comes down to the pardon board and he appeals to the pardon board from the death penalty to commutation to life imprisonment; and they give him a second chance. If you pass this bill, you will not get one verdict out of a hundred with the death penalty. Why? Why, isn't it human nature not to take life away? And when you get the definition of murder in the first degree,—I do not care who it is, if it is any person over sixteen years of age, and they are guilty of murder in the first degree, it should be the death penalty. Now, I am going to give it to you: Any man that commits murder with malice aforethought, premeditated, lying in wait, or by giving poison, or any murder committed in the perpetration of robbery, burglary, arson, kidnapping and rape,—don't you think they ought to pay the death penalty? Why should a man go to life imprisonment? I say to you members for years since I have been here—I have been here six sessions—they have been trying to do away with capital punishment, and we have always voted it down. This bill is an open door for later on to do away with capital punishment. I have one man today where I have been appointed by the court. That man pleads with me every day that I see him: "Mr. Goehring, save me from the hot seat."

Now, I say to you men and women, I do not care how you vote. I hope I may never come under it, but I think I owe it to you members of this House to give you the benefit of my years of experience in the criminal courts. Many a man today in big public office owes his life to capital punishment in the State of Pennsylvania. Many a man today would take a big man's life for the sum of one hundred or five hundred dollars, if it were not for capital punishment. Use your own good judgment. If you vote for the bill, well and good; but I ask you sincerely and conscientiously to vote this bill down.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I listened with a great deal of attention to my friend's argument, and I think it is based on fallacy. Since the beginning of the world we have had murder; since the beginning of the world we have said that death punishment shall follow murder. That is very good; but that is nothing; merely putting laws on the books, merely making decrees of that kind amounts to nothing; it is the certainty of punishment that counts. That is the argument that I have heard in this House continuously since I have been here. What are laws if they are not enforced? Now, we have had the rule since 1860, and we have had the rule before 1860 that in all first degree cases death shall be the penalty, but is there a certainty of that punishment? I call your attention to a case that was recently tried in Philadelphia, where a woman practically in cold blood shot two persons and went to trial and the jury said, "Not guilty." And she had no punishment. My friend thinks that every murderer today is convicted and gets capital punishment. He don't. You have one hundred murder cases before you have one conviction, and they get no convictions. The certainty of punishment is a greater deterrent to the commission of crime than the uncertainty of today. My friend argues that the jury should be instructed. Juries are instructed, but when my friend and other friends like him appear before the jury and say; "Just look at the little children, and here is the dear mother, and look at the father at home," and start to argue like that and the jury begins to soften, and what happens? The jury says: "We won't take his life or we won't take her life, we will give him or her second degree;" and then under the law they get ten to twelve years. Now, it is that uncertainty of punishment that we have in Pennsylvania today that encourages the commission of crime. Now, if you go over to the courts of Delaware, or look at New Jersey,—New Jersey has a law much like this. In Jersey, in trying murder cases, they may not always get death penalties, but they get something. They get life imprisonment, and we get very little in Pennsylvania in our murder cases. If you could tabulate all the first degree cases in Pennsylvania up, look over and examine them carefully, you would find but few of them were first degree verdicts, but many of them were second degree verdicts. Now, let us put a deterrent on this. Let us strengthen the backbone of our juries. If our juries cannot say first degree every time, let them say life imprisonment, and I ask men to say to the men and women of Pennsylvania, "You shall not and you will not have an opportunity to take chances with a soft-hearted jury hereafter."

Mr. GUERIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I have been asked by a member of the House "What were the circumstances under which you proposed this bill?" I told him that I sat at a hearing of the Board of Pardons some weeks ago, where a case was being argued which involved the trial of five men for one offense, and in which the judge, in charging the jury, charged that where any person participated in a criminal act that ended in death, all were equally responsible. These men were tried at various times. One man was sentenced to death on a verdict of murder in the first degree; against two of the other men, the jury found verdicts of murder in the first degree with a recommendation to mercy. At that time of the hearing before the Board of Pardons, Assistant District Attorney Fox made this statement: "If the jury had power to say whether the sentence would be life imprisonment or death, I would not be here, not only in this case, but on many other cases; but, unfortunately, this is the condition and we must abide by it." The counsel for the men who were arguing for the pardon read ten letters from ten out of the twelve jurors, and in the matter of two of the accused, the verdict was murder in the first degree with a recommendation of mercy; and the judge decided that he could not recognize this recommendation at all, but before the Board of Pardons, these letters were read,—ten of them,—and the jurors said that if they knew the recommendation of mercy would not carry with it life imprisonment, that they would never have given a verdict of murder in the first degree.

My friend from Allegheny told you of the many times he sat in the court room and how the question of the district attorney and the attorneys for the defense and finally the judge were put to jurors, telling them that if they have any conscientious scruples against capital punishment, they will be excused. I can tell you of one instance in particular of a man who was on a murder case as a juror, and he told me that when he took his oath as a juror, he felt absolutely certain that he was in position to fulfill his duties, and if this man was found guilty, or the evidence proved he was guilty, he would not hesitate to have him sentenced to the electric chair. And he said, "When I got to the jury room and I thought, 'Am I now going to take this man's life?'" he said, "I broke my oath, because I thought I would be committing a greater crime in living up to my oath and sentencing this man to death, and therefore I voted 'not guilty,' although I would have been glad to see him punished in some way." So that the argument as to the jury, I do not think holds at all. If we are confronted as jurymen with the conditions and circumstances as referred to by my friend from Allegheny, there is no question in my mind or that of any man or woman in this House, but what the verdict would be murder in the first degree; but if there are extenuating circumstances, I think it is the duty of the jurors and the duty of the representatives of this House to vote for this bill.

I have before me a letter similar to the one read by the gentleman from Philadelphia, sent to me by Warren C. Graham, an Assistant district attorney, saying that the District Attorney's Office is in full accord with this measure. I would also like to read a letter from The Religious Society of Friends. While this bill was in the course of going through the House, I had quite a lot of correspondence with this society, and let me read this one letter:

"John J. Guerin, H. R. Harrisburg, Pa.

Esteemed Friend:—"We respectfully urge the enactment of H. R. Bill No. 637, which gives to the jury the power at their discretion in capital cases to substitute life imprisonment for the electric chair. Only eight states of the Union retain capital punishment, of which Pennsylvania is one. Eight others have abolished it and thirty-two have enacted legislation which allows the jury or the judge to substitute life imprisonment. We hold that all punishment should contemplate not only protection to society but the reformation of the criminal, and capital punishment renders such reformation impossible. Years ago Thomas B. Reed, in advocating this cause before the Maine legislature said in referring to the evils of the practice—

"You demand of him in the hot blood of hate a forbearance which in the cold blood of deliberation you declare you will not grant; and so the awful lesson of killing is read from your own statute book, and you give it your utmost sanction."

"It is to be noted that there has been no increase in crime in those countries where prolonged imprisonment as punishment for murder has been substituted for the death penalty and it was said years ago by a prison visitor:

"We cannot assert too emphatically, that death is not the punishment, which lawless men dread the most. Such men often fiercely desire death. They seek it; they look forward to it as the cure for all mortal ills, the sure and painless refuge from the agony of life."

"In Sing Sing prison during six consecutive years, 71 8-10% of capital cases had never before been convicted for crime and most of those who were serving life terms were the best behaved in the institution.

"We believe that this Bill is in line with the enlightened Christian view of the majority of our people and also with the principles of modern penology. The interest which we, as the Society of Friends, have in promoting this legislation is distinctly moral and religious although we fully recognize that all other considerations have their proper weight. Above all however, we, as a religious body, insist that capital punishment has no place among a people claiming to be followers of Him whose teaching is wholly against such a method of punishment.

"On behalf of the Representative Meeting.

Very respectfully,

G. M. WARNER, Clerk.

WM. B. HARVEY, Secretary."

I therefore ask the members of the House to support this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

An Act permitting fishing on Sunday with one rod and two hooks and fixing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PEELOR. Mr. Speaker, I think the attention of the members of this House should be called to this bill. I believe it was Lincoln said, that if we break down the Sunday laws we might look for the destruction of our Republic. Now, I am not one of the kind that stands up against anything that might be done on the sabbath day, but I am inclined to believe that we should not sanction any sport on the sabbath day in contradiction to those commandments that we have all been taught in our childhood and practiced in part in manhood and womanhood. I feel that every member should conscientiously at least vote against this proposition and not place on the statute books of Pennsylvania an act that would authorize or legalize fishing or an other act or pleasure on that day.

Mr. GOEHRING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we have just voted in favor of a crime law. Now, we go to a more serious law, the law of sin, and I want to say to the members of this House that it is with the deepest regret that I get on the floor to speak against a bill presented by the member from Berks. He is sincere on this bill, and his constituents have asked him to do it. I want to say to you members of the House, I am not a fanatic, but I do believe in a Book that has lasted for over two thousand years. I don't know of a book that I would rather have under my head when I am dying than that Book, and when that Book says to use to keep the sabbath day holy, I think we should do it. To-day under the law Sunday is a non dies. No contract, no agreement, no warrant, no execution, no legal papers can be served or executed on that day. Do you want to open up the day, do you want to open that door, I say to you members, now? I am a fisherman. There is no sport that I love more than fishing. I enjoy it. I love to get in a boat at sunrise and I don't get out of it until it sets, but members of the House don't do it on Sunday. If you go to church on Sunday morning and break the sabbath day on Sunday afternoon, I say to you, that is for your own conscience. What you do on Sunday does not hurt my conscience, and what I do on Sunday won't hurt your conscience, but I say to you I am not going to legalize it. I heard one of the greatest jurists I ever heard of or knew, Chief Justice Jay when he was dying he was asked, "What message have you to give your children?" He said, "They have the Holy Bible, through which we see eternal life." Wilnot a noted infidel when he was dying laid his hand on that Book and trembling and emasculated said, "There is only one objection to this Book and that is an unclean life." Robert Ingersoll said that the only objection to that Book was the truth there is in it. I say to you men, to you members of the House this law legalizes Sunday. If you want a warrant to be issued on Sunday, this is the way to do it; if you want a contract entered into on Sunday, this is the way to do it; if you want a writ of execution on Sunday this is a good way to do it, if this law goes through it is the only law on our statute books legalizing the sabbath day. I say to you members of the House let your own conscience guide you. I am not going to ask you to vote for it. It is a matter clearly and sincerely for your own conscience. Crime you know is a wrong against the law, but sin is a crime against the one above. I thank you.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am not going to preach a sermon. I am heartily in favor of this bill because I feel that it is based on good, sound common sense. Many of our laws are as inconsistent as our Sunday laws. We are facing a condition and not a theory. Now, let us take one of our typical Pennsylvania streams. At the present time on a Sunday you can go along our streams for miles and miles, and you see a whole lot of tents, a whole row of bungalows, and as you go along awhile an enforcement officer comes along and there is a body of young men and women possibly they are bathing, and their conduct frequently is about as modest as their bathing suits are, and yet the officer comes along and looks at it and he smiles. Then he walks up the stream for a mile or so and comes to a quiet spot. There under a big tree perhaps sits a working man who has been working six days a week to support his wife and children. He cannot have a day off to go fishing because his boss will not permit it for fear of crippling the industry for which he works. He carries perhaps a sandwich or a little lunch in his pocket. He sits there quietly and lights his pipe and he starts to fish. Along comes this same enforcement officer and quiet as he is, because the very nature of the recreation compels him to be quiet, he could not ply his trade if there was any noise of any kind or boisterous conduct of any kind, and along comes the officer and taps him on the shoulder and he says, "You are under arrest." He carries him before a justice of the peace or alderman and he is fined and made a criminal for what? For sitting there and quietly enjoying his Sunday recreation, whereas the other party a mile down the stream is carrying on boisterously, making a great deal of noise and desecrating the sabbath one hundred times more than that fisherman is doing sitting up the stream alone.

I know the proponents of this bill in past session have put up this argument, they have said, "While we realize that the request for Sunday fishing is reasonable," but they said, "We know that the law is not enforced. If you go and fish quietly you are not disturbed. The fish warden, the state police and other officials will not annoy you." That is just the reason why this bill should be passed. I say that every law on the statute books that is not honestly and sincerely enforced makes for lawlessness. If a law is not worth enforcing it should be taken off the statute books. If the department winks at Sunday fishing as we are told it does, and if no arrests are made that in itself is evidence that they feel that the request for Sunday fishing is a fair and just one. I say if fishing is wrong on Sunday and if the present law is to stand it should be strictly enforced. This law was placed on the statute books a century and a quarter ago, in that age when all blue laws were passed. Many of them are obsolete and are on our statute books. Now, we ought to take those blue laws and enforce them if they are right, if they are not right they ought to be repealed, because every law on the statute books of this state that is not enforced only adds to the lawlessness which now already exists.

I really feel that this is a fair measure. I feel that it is a just measure. We tolerate automobile parties, we tolerate Sunday sports of all kinds that are far more injurious to the public morale than Sunday fishing is, and I feel if we want to be at all consistent we should pass this bill, and say to this fellow who enjoys his recreation quietly, you are not a law breaker. You are not a criminal because you have not done one one-hundredths of the injury to society and to the public morale at large as the fellows down yonder at the stream who are not molested. I feel, therefore, that we should be consistent and that we should pass this bill.

Mr. SOWERS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Eaches, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EACHES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. SOWERS. Is this the same bill that the Governor was in favor of last session?

Mr. EACHES. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, the gentleman is asking a question, and I don't believe it is well to go back and dig up relics.

Mr. Speaker, I have heard in the last few minutes remarks that say this bill is a terribly vicious piece of legislation.

My Friend, Mr. Goehring, says that it would be a blot on the character of the State of Pennsylvania if this bill should be passed. Just let me say to you members here that there are only two states in the United States, two states in the United States, that prohibit Sunday fishing, Pennsylvania and California. Possibly some of you who are here have brothers that live in other states, maybe your father or mother does. Do you think for one moment that those people are any more unreligious than you are? Is there any harm in a man's going along a stream on a Sunday with his family, with his lunch basket, sitting there and disturbing nobody, maybe doing nothing more than drowning a lot of worms. If you would have taken a walk this morning, just two blocks down here there is a view, this beautiful stream they have here, see the condition of it and then wonder why anybody pays a dollar for a fishing license. On the other hand take the man who plays golf on Sunday, the man who enjoys his automobiling on Sunday with his family, or the man who enjoys a trip on the railroad train with an excursion on Sunday, or going to a picnic on a trolley car with his family down to the park to hear the band play. Is there any more harm in that? I cannot see it. I cannot understand, my friends, why this objection should be to this bill. I am sponsoring bill No. 589, for one purpose alone. I am a shop hand and I am compelled to work six days a week. I cannot afford to lose the time during the week to go fishing, neither can the man or the lady that is working in a department store. They have to ask for a day off, and demoralize the organization of that store or that plant. Now, why discriminate like that against the man whom you call on when you have a call to arms? Where do you go first? Right out into the shop, you go out and get the good strong husky boys to fight at the front. I say to you members in all sincerity, that there is no other objection except that somebody says you are going to commercialize Sunday far from it. Everybody wants to see a good healthy person, and the nearer people come to God's nature, sitting along that stream and molesting nobody the better they are, and for that reason I think, my friends, this is a good bill.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Sarig, in commencing his remarks appealed to the members of the House to be consistent in voting. So I appeal to the members of the House to be consistent with the vote of last night. House Bill No. 306 passed this House by practically a unanimous vote, only eight dissenting votes, and on page 64, chapter 13, Sunday fishing is prohibited. Practically the unanimous vote of this House for that bill last night, and in the words of my friend from Berks, I say be consistent with your vote of last evening.

Mr. DILSHEIMER. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by the following: Messrs. Lafferty, Bromley, Harer, Witkin, Burd P. Evans, Orr, Fratt, Lucas, Emhardt, McLaughlin, Heffernan, Myers, Greeby, Earley, Turner, Rall, Metzger, Aston, Bidelspacher, Behney, and others.

The SPEAKER. More than twenty members having joined in moving the previous question,

On the question,
Shall the main question now be put?
It was agreed to.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:
